The letter carriers in the procession today were in charge of N. H. Baker, assistant superintendent of carriers, who will be assisted by Joseph Van Fleet. Captain O'Neil and Capt. Daniel O'Neil. The carriers wore the regulation uniform with cap and white collar and a band of broad black crape on the left arm.

Will, of course, make that town lose its prestige as a railroad terminal station.

Many Alexandrians ment to Washing-ton the function this morning to attend the funeral services of President McKinley. The day was a partial holiday in this city, as many of the stores, offices, and banks were closed. The schools were also closed. The R. E. Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, attended in a body. The members of the Old Dominion Commandery, Knights Templar, also attended. They will join the Washington members at Farragut Square.

The National-"Foxy Grandpa." Joseph Hart and Carrie DeMar enter-tained a large audience at the National last night with their new musical snap shot, "Foxy Grandpa," which delightful old gentleman had been transferred from the illustrated pages of a newspaper to the stage with a great deal of success by R. Melville Baker. The piece proved dis-tinctly enjoyable to the major portion of the assemblage that filled the Raple playhouse, while to those who viewed the offering with more critical eyes is present ed a main theme, that of a kindly old gentleman with two mischievous grand-sons, which has never heretofore been utilized for musical purposes. There was an abundance of laughter during the ac-tion of the three acts and the many musical selections that were introduced were for the most part new and well rendered.
